CALIFORNIA

STATE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

AT THE

UNIVERSITY FARM

DAVISVILLE

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, AND THURSDAY,

OCTOBER 29, 30, AND 31, 1907

This Institute is to extend popular knowledge of the aims and objects of The University Farm and to bring to the Farm, at its opening, those interested in Agricultural education; also to afford the opportunity to agriculturists generally to learn by observation the activities of the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station of the University of California, as shown in this branch of its work. A varied schedule of exercises has been provided, as shown upon the following pages, allowing those in attendance to participate in discussions of great importance to the advancement of the agriculture of the State and the prosperity of those connected therewith. The Question Box will also be continually open and will afford opportunity for the introduction of other important topics. Free discussion will follow the formal addresses so far as time will permit.
